Hi Bolat
This guy works for Bechor. I think Bechor tried to reach Almaz today and failed. He will try email.
Please follow through Almaz until they talk.
I'll come back to you later re other projects.

> Shalom, Ehud! Last night got a call from a Russian-speaking guy claiming to represent Elsmed. Said he needed detailed info on the Almaty project. I told him we sent everything through you. He said he himself is not aware of that, will check tomorrow. Name Gennadiy. Said they are planning a visit to Almaty and in order to prepare better for discussion would like to know the size of the Mencenter. I sms-ed him the telephone number of Dr Almaz Sharman since he knows the answers. Gennadiy promised to get in touch with Almaz. As of 1 pm my time today no call to Almaz yet. Almaz is waiting for info on when and who comes to Almaty from Elsmed for discussions. I explained to Almaz concerns of Mr Bechor. He laughed them and to illustrate how substantial are his partners requested me to tell you that the entire Essentay project (Almaty Academic Medcenter being part of it) is 5 billion dollars. They do not play petty games, stated Almaz. May be it would be of interest to you. So far no call from Mr Bechor himself to me. How about other projects which were subjects of my previous emails? Anything worthwhile? Best to Nili, cheers.

>> Shalom, Ehud! Ready to get a call from Mr Bechor, shall try to convince him that in order to proceed he has to meet Dr Sharman and get a first hand impression about them dealing in good faith. Knowing Almaz I doubt he will be a part of scheming attempt. He honestly told me his ability to influence the process is limited because he has other partners, most of them, as I gather are West educated and pretty well to do. So money saving to a point of petty manipulations should not be their modus operandi. Any case, please, advise him not to engage in Assuta's tactic of "pay for my trip to show that you are serious". That will not go well with these guys, even Ter-ko was rather displeased when told about that condition. Shall be in touch once there is a contact with Mr Bechor. Cheers, best to Nili.
